

"WWII: SABOTEURS ATTACK AMERICA"

The term, U-boat is the anglicized version of the German word that describes an undersea boat, Unterseeboot and refers to military submarines operated by Germany, particularly in World War II. War personnel and materials were being transferred across the Atlantic Ocean, becoming the main target of the U-boats. The primary aim of the U-boat campaigns was the disruption of merchant convoys bringing supplies from the United States to Canada, to Great Britain, and to WWII Allies.

The battle took place in the Atlantic. During World War II, a handful of German U-Boats sunk about 1,000-ships in the Atlantic and Caribbean, more tonnage than the Japanese fleet sunk in the Pacific. In the first days alone, one U-Boat sunk ten transports before returning to reload. During this part of the battle at sea, the Enigma Machine and Code Breakers played a crucial part in the war during the Second World War. Also, German Saboteurs were landed by U-Boats on Atlantic beaches in Canada, United States, Bermuda, and Caribbean as well as Scotland and North Sea Britain. Our heroic documentary covers "WWII, Nazis Attack America," as we focus on patriotism, volunteerism, and national pride. Overall, The Authority Group is planning to air the three(3) heroic documentaries covering the untold stories of World War Two on national holidays across America, Canada, Bermuda, and the Caribbean..
